Management and Leadership

INTRODUCTION

The need to deliver on time, every time, and within resource budgets at the end of any evaluation is the difference between good and great organisations. Doing so requires an extraordinary amount of focus, skill and synchronicity throughout the organisation. It starts with getting all team members to appreciate that despite their functions, the one job of the company is to achieve its strategic objectives.

Participants are led by expert facilitators to refocus the reason for the existence of the organisation, who they serve, and what differentiates them from the competition. They are introduced to the concept of developing a Play Book for the organisation that codifies and synchronizes deliverables, timelines and responsibilities.

They are led to recalibrate processes, realign the organisation and review Strategy, Structure, Staffing, Skills, Systems, Styles and Shared Values to ensure that both effective and efficient implementation are brought to bear.

Hands-on simulation ensures that that real-life challenges are resolved and knowledge is integrated at a deep functional level.

TAKEAWAYS

This program will enable you to:

- Create an organization where work is accepted more as a crusade that merely a job with everyone focused on excellence
- Peer review is introduced as the primary source of motivation, supervision and problem-solving
- Multiply the impact of local discoveries by making them useful systemically throughout an organization
- Lead an organization where developing leaders is a priority

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Senior leadership, whose understanding and support are vital in ensuring delivery of Strategic Objectives within the Organisation
- Managers with responsibility for core products, services, or mission-critical processes
- Managers earmarked for higher responsibility
- Entrepreneurs in any industry, especially in new and emerging fields

The customised nature of the training made it practical and specific to our organisation. We were able to achieve deep-dive and solve real-life organisational problems that would not have been possible otherwise. Every one left with renewed vigour and a set of solutions to immediately implement.
